SBC MASS YOUTH CHOIR MINISTERS IN ORLANDO

By Anisia Ferguson, Assistant Choir Leader SBC

On Tuesday July 12, 45 members of the South Bahamas Conference (SBC) mass youth choir and 15 chaperones assembled at the Lynden Pindling International Airport for their journey to Orlando, Florida. The group was prepared for another privilege to minister in music, this time at the Patmos Seventh-day Adventist Church in Winter Park Florida. Upon arrival in Orlando, the excited youngsters headed to Embassy Suites, in four rental vans, where they took up residence for the entire time.

Each day began with morning devotions ably led by Elder Curtis Bryan, Assistant Youth Director of the Conference. As a result of the daily supplications to God, the group was provided with guidance and protection as they travelled the busy streets of Orlando. The days quickly passed and before long, it was Sabbath July 16. In their modest yet striking attire, the ladies and gentlemen ascended the choir loft of the Patmos Seventh-day Adventist Church much to the admiration of the church. The congregation was inspired by the words of "Spirit" as Natala Mackey did an excellent rendition that brought the church to their feet. The group added a cultural dimension to the offertory when "Dis we Bahamian Praise" was sung. To set the tone for God's message to His people, Moesha Kerr led the song "The Lord Is Holy". The presence of the Holy Spirit was surely felt as the choir members' interpretation brought tears and surrender to Him.

The Adventist Youth Society (AYS) hour was a grand opportunity for the SBC mass youth choir to continue blessing God's people. The choir graciously provided a feast of praise and worship songs to the pleasure of the waiting congregation. "Prodigal Song", a musical production, featured Armard Knowles as he portrayed the character of "Marcus". The cast, which included other members of the choir, skillfully dramatized the well-known biblical story.

Like the prophet Isaiah, the members of the Patmos Church along with the choir "called the Sabbath a delight" (cf. Isaiah 58:13). The choir members were highly commended on their singing but considered themselves blessed as a result of their ministry.

The choir was grateful for the opportunity to minister one more time to His people in Florida. Brother Seanray Jennings, the Associate Director of Youth assisted Elder Curtis Bryan in ensuring that all went well on the trip. A special thank you is extended to Pastor Paul Scavella, other administrators of the conference, church members, friends and family members who made the trip a reality. We crave your continued prayers and support as we minister in song to proclaim God's to a world in search of hope.
